

NORDP Election Guidelines: Processes and Procedures

Nominating Committee

Elections will operate through the Nominating Committee. All NORDP members in good standing (Regular and Affiliate) are eligible to serve on the Nominating Committee. Each year, the outgoing Chair of the Nominating Committee will invite NORDP members to apply to serve on the committee, and will choose six (6) members to serve on the Committee for the following year. Ideally, the Nominating Committee should represent all of NORDP's regions (including international members), but this is not an absolute requirement.

Once established, the Committee will select two members of the NORDP Board of Directors to serve on the Committee, and the full Committee will then elect its Chair. No NORDP region should have more than two representatives on the Nominating Committee, whether the Chair, an at-large member, or a member of the NORDP Board.

The Nominating Committee Chair will inform the Board and the NORDP membership of the composition of the Nominating Committee.

The Nominating Committee shall assess the current composition of the Board in terms of institutional representation in order to determine which of the designated and at-large seats will be contested in each annual election. It shall also review the materials used in the previous election, and make modifications to them as needed, based on feedback from the prior year's process. Based upon 12 members, each serving 4-year, staggered terms, approximately one third of the Board Member positions will be open for election each year.

The Nominating Committee must make known to NORDP membership the eligibility criteria and qualifications considered for Board membership. The Nominating Committee must create application materials and ensure the application form posted to the main NORDP website includes questions that elicit information specific to the qualifications and selection criteria described below.

The Nominating Committee will then issue a call for nominations and applications (to include the eligibility criteria and qualifications that will be considered for Board membership) to the NORDP membership. The call for nominations should be timed in such a way that the nominations period closes with enough time for the Nominating Committee to complete all of the following processes:

- consider the nominations received
- contact those nominees who meet the eligibility criteria and other qualifications, and verify their interest in standing for election
- allowing time for those nominees who wish to run to prepare and submit their applications.

Once the period for applications has closed, the Nominating Committee will review all of the applications received for completeness and proceed to consider the applicants' eligibility. The Nominating Committee will choose candidates for the Board, to be voted upon by the NORDP Membership, based on the extent to which they meet the qualifications as described below. For each Board position eligible for election, the Nominating Committee should select at least two (and ideally not more than four) candidates.

The Chair of the Nominating Committee will communicate the decisions of the committee with regard to eligibility and fitness for the Board to each of the applicants. The Chair will also prepare a report for the Board of Directors of the Nominating Committee's activities, including the number of nominations and applications received, the number of applicants deemed ineligible for election (and the reasons for so deciding in each case), and the names of the applicants being recommended for candidacy for each open position on the Board. This report is to be ready for presentation to the Board not later than its next regularly scheduled monthly meeting after the Nominating Committee has completed its work.

Eligibility Criteria

Only regular members of NORDP in good standing are eligible to serve on the Board of Directors. Being in good standing is defined as having a current membership in NORDP, with all dues owed fully paid, at the time of the election. Affiliate members of NORDP (defined as individuals working for a for-profit entity that employs more than 25 people) are not eligible to serve as Board members.

Qualifications

Qualifications for serving on the Board of Directors encompass a number of factors, including:

- Active support and/or service to NORDP, e.g., service on committees, working groups, or other efforts on behalf of the organization. While conference presentations are highly valuable to the organization, they do not in and of themselves constitute active support of the organization or demonstrate an individual has knowledge of how NORDP operates and how its mission is served.
- Experience in research development that demonstrates knowledge of the profession.
- Experience serving on non-profit boards or other forms of organizational leadership.
- Demonstrated ability to communicate well and work collaboratively.

Selection Criteria

The Nominating Committee will evaluate applicants for the ballot based on the following criteria:

- Potential of applicants to serve NORDP effectively, as reflected in their application materials and other evidence – their description of interests in serving on the board and the contributions the candidates think they can make, their specific goals for NORDP, and why they think they would make a good candidate.
- Diversity of Board Members is highly desirable, although there are no formal requirements.
- Diversity of institution type, location, size, focus, public, private etc. is also highly desirable.

Nomination Process

Regular members in good standing are eligible for nomination to the Board and may self-nominate or be nominated by others. Regardless of how they are nominated, all applicants must submit application materials in order to be considered for candidacy. Affiliate members are not eligible for nomination to the Board.

Designated Seats

In order to ensure that the NORDP Board includes the perspective of research development professionals who do not work for large universities or research institutes, three Board positions have been designated for candidates from the following:

- One position for candidates from a predominantly undergraduate institution (PUI)¹;
- Two other positions for candidates from either a minority-serving institution (MSI)², and/or a regional institution³.

All other members of the Board will be elected from the membership at large. If no qualified candidate for one or more of the designated positions is identified through the nomination process, those positions will remain open until filled by appointment or during the next election cycle.

² As defined by Title III, Part F (20 U.S. Code §1067q) of the Higher Education Act, minority-serving institutions are either (1) historically black colleges and universities (HBCUs) or predominantly black institutions, (2) Hispanic-serving institutions, (3) tribal colleges and universities, (4) institutions serving Alaskan natives or native Hawaiians, (5) institutions serving Asian-Americans and Native American Pacific Islanders, or (6) non-tribal institutions serving Native Americans.

³ A regional institution means a college or university that has research expenditures over the past three years (based on NSF data) of less than $50,000,000.

Election Process

The Nominating Committee will nominate two or more candidates for each open Board position from among the applications received. The Nominating Committee will create ballot materials to be completed by the nominees that will include information such as brief biographical statements that include information on their role in research development, past/ongoing service to NORDP, service on other boards or in leadership positions, and their interests and goals in serving on the Board.

Timeline:

- The Nominating Committee will be formed and develop election materials during October-December.
- Calls for Board applications will be sent out by the third week of January.
- Applications will be due by the last day of February.
- The Nominating Committee will select and post nominees for open positions no later than two weeks prior to the Annual Meeting.
- Nominees will be invited to participate in an open candidates' forum during the Annual Meeting. The format of this forum will be determined by the Nominating Committee and scheduled in coordination with the Program/Conference Committee. If the Chair of the Nominating Committee is attending the Annual Meeting, s/he will serve as the moderator of the open forum (and may invite one or more additional members of the Nominating Committee to assist). If the Chair of the Nominating Committee will not be attending the meeting, the committee will select one or more of its other members in attendance to moderate the forum.
- Voting will open no later than one week prior to the beginning of the Annual Meeting and will close no later than two weeks after the end of the conference.
- The Nominating Committee will work with the company selected to provide online voting services to establish the balloting.

Board Officer Elections

The Board will elect officers from among its current members. Board members will not be considered eligible for election to an officer position before completing at least one year of service on the Board, but in extraordinary circumstances, the Board reserves the right to waive this requirement. The Board will exercise careful consideration and due diligence in responding to such extraordinary circumstances. (If an officer leaves the Board in mid-term, nominees will be solicited from among the Board and voted on by the Board in an expeditious fashion).
